Mrs. Richard B. Carter, guidance counselor for Appomattox County High School, addressed home economics students of Appomattox Intermediate School on Wed., May 20 on the subject, "Decisions That Count". A social hour followed in the home ec cottage with Jr. FHA officers and committee members as hostesses.

Counselor Speaks At Tea

by Denita Lewis

Mrs. R. B. Carter, guidance counselor at Appomattox County High School, was the speaker Tuesday, May 20, during a social hour held for all home economics students by the officers and social committee of the Junior Future Homemakers of America. The Jr. FHA and guests met in the Home Ec cottage at Appomattox Intermediate School.

Mrs. Carter gave a very interesting talk on "Decisions That Count". She emphasized the importance of making decisions at an early age – the decisions that affect one's education and one's vocation in life.

She said statistics show that 78½ of the girls now enrolled in school will graduate. "Will you be one of the 78½?, she asked.

Mrs. Carter listed some of the more important decisions made in almost every girl's life in America.

The most important, she said, is a decision on the question, "Will I be a Christian?" Next, "Will I be married or not?" "What shall I do for a job?" "How much education will I be able to get?"

Mrs. Carter pointed out that most American women will live to be 74 years old or older – also that about half of the women are working outside their homes for approximately 30 years of their lives.

She suggested to each young woman, "Decide what you want to do and put your mind to doing it."

Following Mrs. Carter's address fruit punch and cookies were served by the officers, executive committee and social committee of the Jr. FHA. Chairman of the social committee is Virginia Beaty with Lou Beamer as co-chairman. Also, Susan Moore, Deborah Tweedy, Norma Eagle, Debbie Rowsey and Mary McCraw.

Officers include Kathy Mitchell, pres.; Linda Sullivan, V. Pres.; Teresa Smith, secy.; Nan Chambers, treas.; Monica Ewers, historian; Denita Lewis, reporter.
